

SJ's Largest & TOP Rated Seasonal Kids Sale !

CONSIGNOR COMMISSION WILL BE PAID thru PAYPAL – AUGUST 2019

How will I receive my earnings after the sale?

Best Dressed for Less will issue your commission for sold items through PayPal (minus any fees from your commission for batteries or missed shifts – see Consignor Agreement for details). BDFL pays the PayPal fees. You will receive notice of the payment in your PayPal account within 10 days of the end of the sale (probably closer to 6 days). You can use this money directly at thousands of retailers, transfer to your bank account (no fee), access it at an ATM or with a debit card depending on how you have your PayPal account set up.

How will I know my money is available?

You will receive an email with the subject “BDFL Fall 2019 Consignor Earnings!” from PayPal once the payment has been issued. At that point you can log into your PayPal account and transfer to a linked bank account, use your PayPal debit card or start spending anywhere PayPal is accepted. If you don't have a PayPal account linked to the email you are using with BDFL, the email will include directions for getting your money.

What do I need to do right now to be sure there is no delay in receiving my earnings?

The easiest way to be sure you won't have any issues is to make sure your BDFL Consignor Account email is THE SAME as your PayPal account email. You can log in to your Consignor Homepage anytime until the inventory system closes the Saturday before sale week at midnight (8/10) to update your email in your Consignor Account. Another option is to add and CONFIRM your current Consignor Account email to your PayPal account. This is very easily done under the settings in your PayPal account. Either will work fine, but it is the Consignor's responsibility to make sure PayPal is able to disperse the money to you. BDFL is not responsible for changing the email you would like to have the payment sent to.

What if I need help?

PayPal Customer Service is very helpful. 888-221-1161

SJ's Largest & TOP Rated Seasonal Kids Sale !

What if I forget to make sure my PayPal account is ready to receive my earnings?

After 30 days, PayPal will return any payments with the status “unclaimed” to BDFL. At this time, BDFL will issue paper checks for all unclaimed funds (a $2.00 processing fee will be subtracted). Checks will be issued within 5 days of money being returned to BDFL. If you fail to set up your PayPal account properly, you can expect to receive your earnings about 45 days after the close of the sale in the mail.

Why is BDFL making this change?

Electronic transfer is a safer, more efficient and reliable method for receiving your earnings. No more lost checks by the post office or in your house and no more having to remember to cash the check or update your address. You will have multiple ways to access your money and can transfer to your preferred bank account with no fees.

What if I have multiple Consignor Numbers with BDFL?

If you have more than one consignor number, you will need to ADD and CONFIRM each consignor account email to your PayPal account. You can do this under settings in your PayPal account.

Questions?

www.PayPal.com or 888-221-1161 or email Kris (for limited support) kris@bestdressedale.com